ABOUT OUR FACULTY ENSEMBLE

The Northern Brass Quintet, an artist-in-residence ensemble at the UNI School of Music, has a rich history of quality performances and boasts a repertoire that encompasses all genres from Renaissance to Jazz and Contemporary – with several works composed especially for the Quintet. Formed in 1968 for the purpose of performing the finest music available for brass instruments, the ensemble continues to encourage interest in such music in schools and communities. Programs generally feature a variety of selections that appeal to the casual listener and satisfy the palette of the brass enthusiast. While a regular concert series occurs on the UNI campus, the Northern Brass Quintet also appears as guests on Community Concerts, on other university campuses, in outreach programs, for children’s concerts, in radio and television broadcasts, and in masterclasses, clinics, and workshops.

Members of the Northern Brass Quintet are artist-teachers from the Brass Division at the University of Northern Iowa. Individually, they are known nationally for accomplishments ranging from teaching and performance to scholarship and instrumental design. Active performers, clinicians, and soloists, they sustain positions in symphonies, chamber groups, and popular ensembles. In addition, they maintain a presence in local, regional, and national music organizations.
