

presents

Matt Glascock, Cello
In a Graduate Recital

joined by:
Nash Ryder, violin, and Sean Botkin, piano

In partial fulfillment of requirements for the Artist Diploma in Cello Performance
From the Studio of Dr. Jamie Clark

Three Nocturnes

Ernest Bloch (1880-1959)

Andante

Andante quieto

Tempestoso

Sonata in G Minor, op 19

Sergei Rachmaninoff (1873-1945)

Lento – Allegro moderato – Moderato

Allegro Scherzando

Andante

Allegro mosso – Moderato – Vivace

Intermission

Trio in D Minor, op 49

Felix Mendelssohn (1809 – 1847)

Molto allegro agitato

Andante con moto tranquillo

Scherzo. Leggiero e vivace

Finale. Allegro assai

Acknowledgements:

John and Dorothy Glascock – To whom I owe everything.

Dr. Jamie Clark – My wonderful teacher, inspiration, and tour guide on this amazing journey.

Isidora Nojkovic – My first teacher on this pursuit – for stoking an unquenchable passion.

Sean Botkin – For friendship, mentorship, and moving my soul with his limitless musicianship.

Nash Ryder – For sharing his magnificent artistry and friendship.

And to both for giving me a seat on the stage where music is created at the highest level.

Bob Washut – Next to my father, the most important man in my life. I love you Chez.

Eric Rohde, NISO, and my cello family – for entrusting me with the cello section leadership and for our wonderful music making in the Northern Iowa Symphony Orchestra.

My teachers from the past for continued inspiration – Jack Graham, Stefan Reuss, Fred Halgedahl, Tom Barry, Rowena Hammill, Andrea DiGregorio, Marleta Matheson.

Mark "Burrito" Burrill - My dear friend and music partner.

Henry Pugh – For keeping my favorite building, Russell Hall, lovely. Thank you!

My children – John, Elise, Lily, and Farah – I love you all so much!

Most important of all, my wife Pooneh, who has worked endlessly and singlehandedly to support our family after the loss of my job, and whose efforts have allowed me to pursue this dream.