Dr. Burkhardt and I are excited to share this evening of music and camaraderie with you! You are the inaugural guests for our first Due Gala, and we thank you for your attendance and support. We hope you enjoy both concerts, as well as the dinner with musical serenades, and the silent auction with items from supporting businesses and individuals in the Cedar Valley community. Your ticket purchases and bids on the auction items will directly support both programs, providing the orchestra with much needed folders and scores, and opera with costumes for our spring opera, Serse by G.F. Handel.

The opera scenes are an eclectic mix, and were selected specifically to address the skills and needs of the cast members. When Dr. Burkhardt told me about the Spanish theme of their program, both Fidelio and Candide came instantly to mind. Fidelio is set in a Spanish prison: additionally, in this “Beethoven year” at UNI which culminates in the spring with a performance of Beethoven’s Ninth Symphony, many ensembles and studios are including music by Beethoven on their programs, and this is our contribution to the celebration. In Candide, the characters traverse the world, and key scenes are in Spain and Uruguay (!?). 2018 also marks the 100-year anniversary of Leonard Bernstein’s birth, so the inclusion of two scenes from Candide on our program is fitting.

UNI Opera will be performing the baroque opera Serse on April 12 and 13, 2019, conducted by Dr. Burkhardt and with members of NISO in the pit. In preparation for the musical challenges of baroque vocal music—the “speech-like” recitative in particular—we have programmed the Mozart and Handel scenes. Both composers are also central in the standard operatic repertoire, and essential for our students to study and perform.

Again, thank you for being here, and supporting opera and orchestra at UNI!

- Mitra Sadeghpour

Welcome! Tonight’s program, España: Vistas y Recuerdas features music about Spain, but not composed by Spaniards. French composers Jules Massenet and Claude Debussy spent little time in Spain, but captured orchestrally the essence of folk songs and folk life with allusions to guitars, church bells and fiestas. Massenet’s ballet music is from Act II of his opera Le Cid, the last he wrote in the French Grand Opera tradition. While Beethoven incorporated no Spanish sounds in Leonore Overture No. 3 (the third attempt out of four for an overture to his only opera Fidelio), the story of the opera does take place in a Spanish prison. The orchestra and I hope you enjoy this Due Gala presentation of operatic and orchestral works.

Don Giovanni
W.A. Mozart

Duet and Chorus: Giovinette, che fate all’amoore
Aria: Ho capito, Signor, si
Duet: Là ci darem la mano
Aria: Ah, fuggi il traditor

Zerlina: Taylor McKimmey
Masetto: Caleb Self
Don Giovanni: Adrian Horras
Leporello: Tyler Browne
Donna Elvira: Elizabeth Wiley

Wedding Guests:
Abbey Danowsky, Taylor Dengler, Mary Funk, Madeleine Marsh, Blair DeBolt, Emma Saskowski, Crystal Spencer, Sam Stevens, Shannon Yocum, Han Sealock, Jenna Skarphol, Deanna Eberhart, Madeline Langlitz, Lauren Leman, Addie Radcliffe, Athena-Sadé Whiteside, Anna Zetterlund, Aricson Knoblock, Brenan Steele, Noah Vaassen, Andrew Oleson, Bradley Krug

Set in seventeenth century Spain, Don Giovanni follows the exploits of the title character and his manservant, Leporello. Don Giovanni, also known as Don Juan, has made a past time out of seducing women of all types across Europe, and today he has set his sights on the peasant girl Zerlina. It is Zerlina’s wedding day, and as the guests sing and dance, Don Giovanni successfully separates Zerlina from her husband-to-be Masetto. As they are on the way to the Don’s nearby castle, they are interrupted by his past lover Donna Elvira who is determined to separate the predator from his newest prey.

La clemenza di Tito
W.A. Mozart

Duet: Ah, perdona al primo affetto

Annio: Han Sealock
Servilia: Hannah Miedema

Annio and Servilia, secretly betrothed, both live in the court of Emperor Tito. Tito unknowingly selects Servilia as his bride, and sends his loyal subject Annio to deliver the news. Annio is torn between loyalty to Tito and his love for Servilia.
Bernstein’s Candide is based on the French satire first published in 1759 by Voltaire, a philosopher of the Age of Enlightenment. The lead characters traverse the world, entering into and escaping many perils. In this Act II duet, Cunegonde and the Old Lady are currently captives in Montevideo, Uruguay. They work as prostitutes in a saloon, but maintain their morale by voicing and executing their power over men.

In this opening number from Fidelio, Jaquino tries once again to convince Marzelline to marry him. He corners her as she works in the courtyard of the Spanish prison where they both live and work. Jaquino’s words fall on deaf ears, as Marzelline has fallen in love with a new employee of the prison: Fidelio.

The major premise of Così fan tutte is that a woman’s heart can be easily changed. On a bet, the fiancés of sisters Fiordiligi and Dorabella pretend to be deployed to war, and then return to attempt to seduce the others’ fiancée. The sisters’ maid Despina is offered money to help in the deception, and in this scene she tries several tactics to convince Dorabella and Fiordiligi to play while the boys are away.
Julius Caesar is embroiled in a bitter struggle with Pompey the Great for control of the Roman world. In their most recent battle, at Pharsalus (48 BCE), Caesar defeated his rival, who subsequently fled to Egypt, which is under the joint rule of Ptolemy and his sister, Cleopatra. Caesar has pursued Pompey to Alexandria.

Comelia and Sesto, Pompey's wife and son, request that peace be made between the two Romans, and Caesar agrees. Just then the Commander of the Egyptian army enters with a gift for Caesar from Tolomeo, the King of Egypt: the head of Pompey...Comelia and Sesto vow revenge, and ss punishment for their bold words, the king orders Sextus confined to the palace and Comelia to the harem garden. In this duet, mother and son to bemoan their cruel fate.” Metropolitan Opera Guild

In the end, it is the simple things that matter.
